Reasons Why Traditional Indonesian Food Is So Special

Having a taste that is rich in spices, it's no wonder that the international community also likes Indonesian specialties. Some foods from Indonesia have even gone global because of their captivating taste and are included in the list of the most delicious foods in Asia and even the world.

The secret is none other than the recipes from hereditary heritage, the process of making and serving is still natural, simple but has its own philosophy, the taste is more interesting, and of course, the taste never changes.
